

Aid transparency – progress and future plans

Roopa Hinton & John Adams
26th April 2012

SUSTAINABILITY

Country offices
↑
Added
value

Traceability
↑

PATTERNS

USABILITY

KEY ISSUES

ACHIEVEMENTS

RESEARCH AND EVIDENCE

WHO WE WORK WITH

▼ HOW UK AID IS SPENT

A new direction for
UK aid

How we decide where aid is spent

What transparency
means for DFID

Evaluation

Project information

– Project search

– Project search
glossary

– Frequently asked questions

Public data

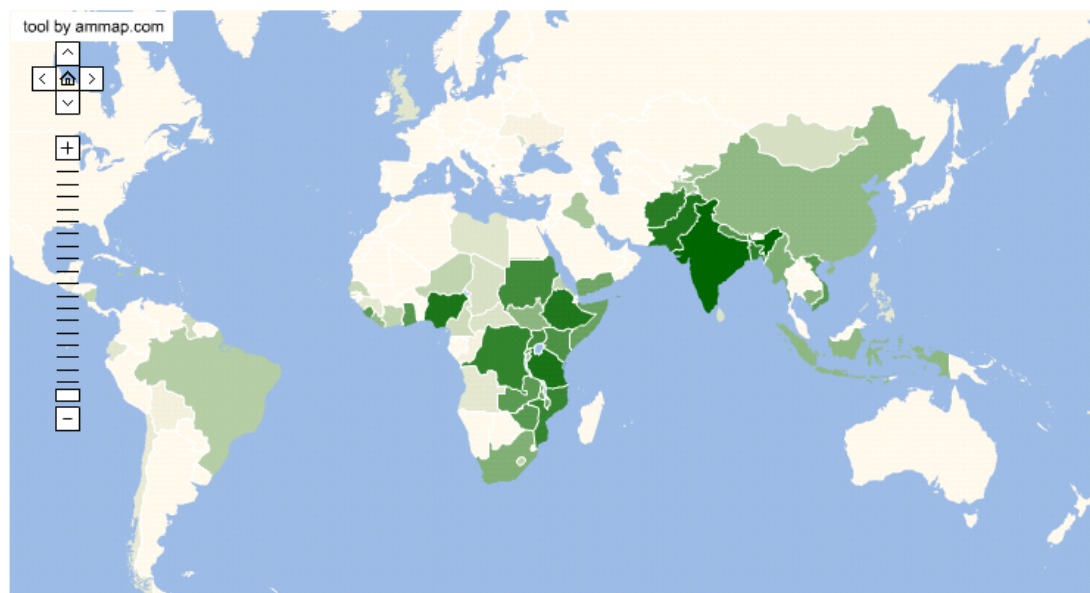

PUBLICATIONS

Project search

WORLD MAP

PROJECT SEARCH

ADVANCED SEARCH

Country borders do not necessarily reflect the UK Government's official position.

FEATURED COUNTRY PAGES

 Bangladesh

 India

 Kenya

 Nigeria

 Pakistan

EXTERNAL LINKS

 [Our internationally comparable data through
the International Aid
Transparency Initiative
\(IATI\) registry](#)

 [More information on the International Aid
Transparency Initiative
\(IATI\)](#)

Latest Projects

[Nepal Police Reform Programme
\[201167\]](#)

Nepal

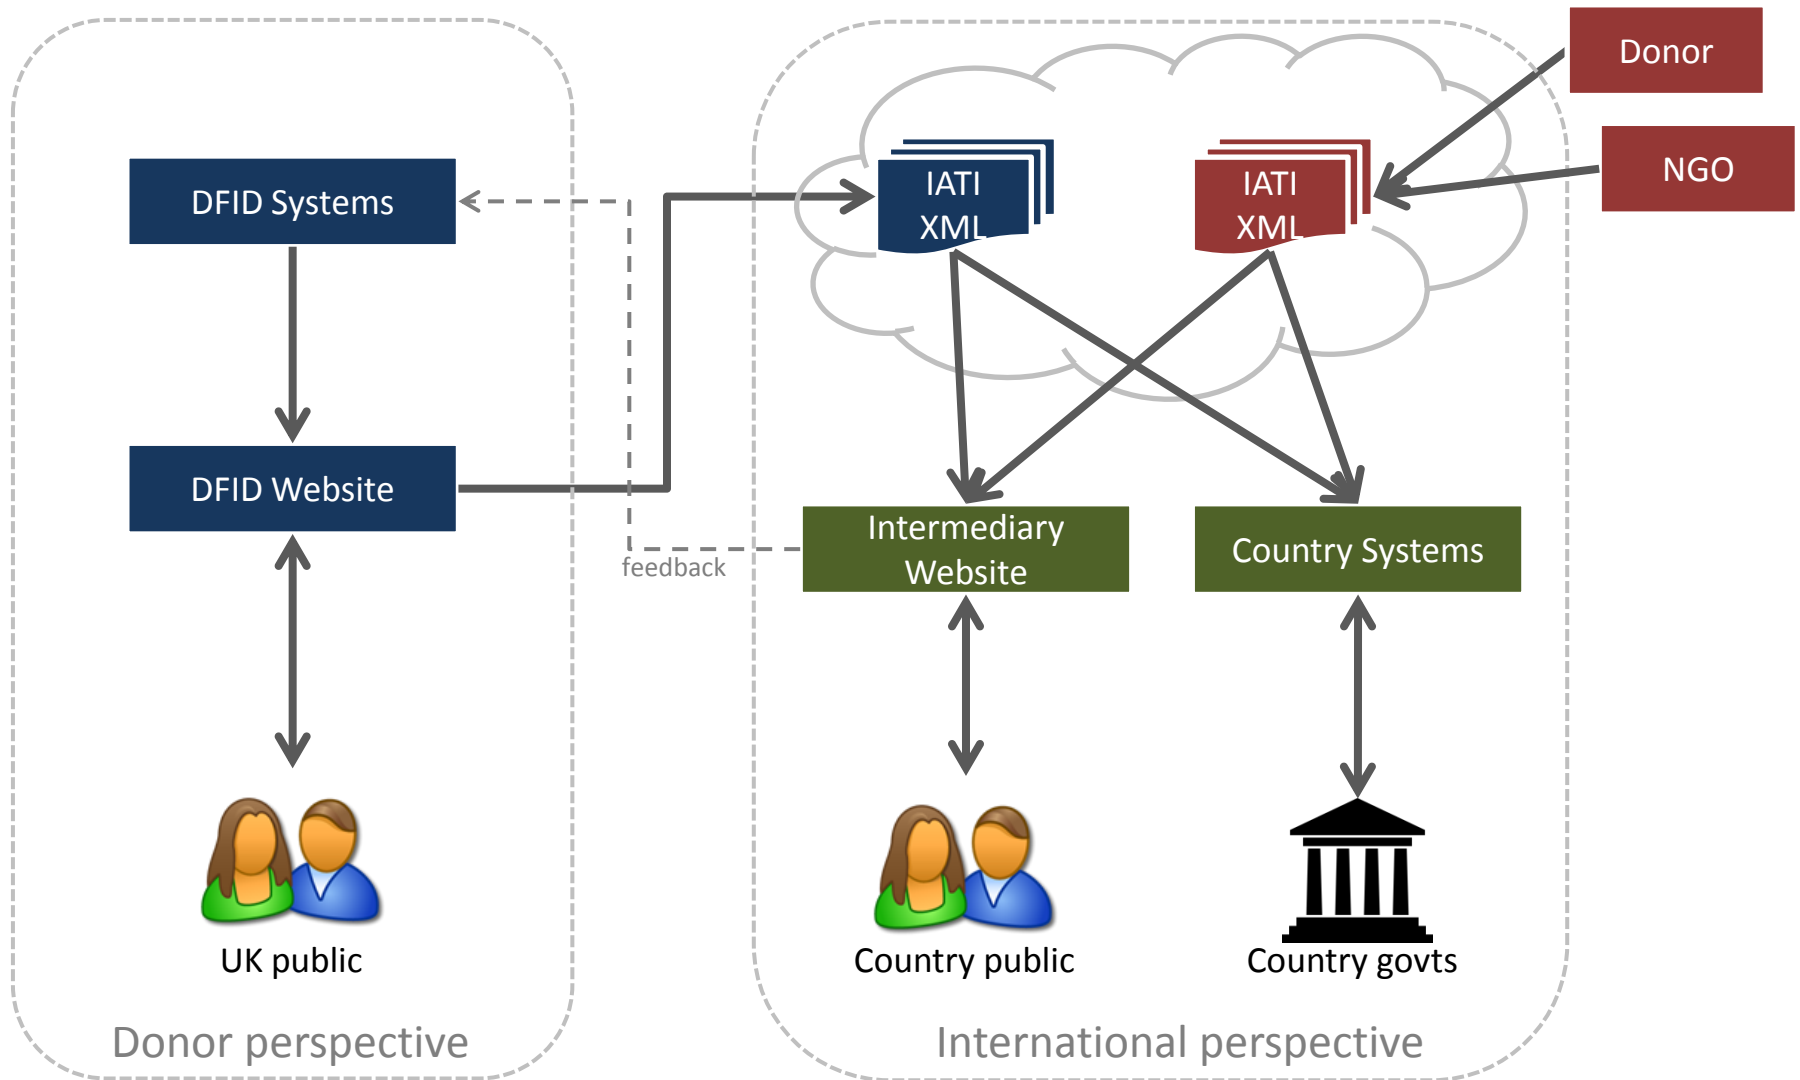

Latest Documents

Annual review

Global Knowledge on Climate Change Adaption: Lessons

DFID Open Data Model (now)

DFID Open Data Model (future)

Transparency: working through intermediaries

- CSOs required to publish to IATI standards on major grant schemes
- Multilaterals increasingly signing up to IATI standard.
- Strengthening domestic accountability and transparency of partner country governments, e.g. domestic accountability processes and supporting the Open Government Partnership.
- Other UK agencies: FCO, DECC, SG...

Access and Beneficiary Feedback Pilots

